Attorney General Holds Old Custom of Assembly Members Is Unlawful

TURNER'S RULING CAUSES SURPRISE

Recalls to Observers in Columbus Many Interesting Incidents of Past Years-State Solons, in a Sense, Not to Blame.

Special Columbus Correspondent, Columbus, June 3 .- The ruling of Attorney General Turner that it is unlawful for members of the general assembly to sell or to take home books and other supplies given them for their use during a legislative session is recalling to observers here many interesting incidents of past years. As far back as memory of man runs not to the contrary it has been the practice of assemblymen to pack up and take home at state expense practically everything within reach. Stationery, scissors, penknives, pocketbooks, card cases, copies of the stautes-all were carefully boxed and consigned to the home of the respective legislator. The custom became a custom in fact. If the assemblyman didn't ask that his supplies be sent to his home, it was done for him anyway. In a sense he was not to blame. Others did it before him and he was expected to. The whole legislative atmosphere was financially free and easy. Things came easy and went easy. The printing at state expense of endless sopies of Howe's "Historical Collections of Ohio" serves only as an illustration of the general sentiment that assemblymen were privileged persons to whom all things were due. The "Historical Collections" for years have been printed at state expense and given gratis by the members of each legislature to themselves to be used for distribution as campaign material, just as congressmen give their constituents copious quantities of garden seed In the last few years the printing of annotated editions of the Ohio code has served as a new source of supply for needy solons. The codes are printed by a Cincinnati firm and are sold to the state at $35 a set. Each member of the assembly gets a set. Some of the sets are hardly used during the session and a few actually not at all. Then when the session ends outsiders who want the codes cheap swarm down upon the legislative halls and buy up the copies. This is a business that actually produces brokers, who get hold of the sets from the individual members of the assembly at low prices and then sort of auction them off at a nice profit. Only a few members take their sets home with them, for they have no longer use for law books when the sessions are over. This year it was easy to get copies of the $35 code for $20 at the end of the session. But the present assembly is not a whit more culpable than its predecessors. Regardless of politics, assemblies have considered all the supplies given them at the beginning of a session as the private property of the members and have dealt with it as such. Wherefore the Turner ruling happens to be a real surprise.

Nine Murderers Ask Pardon. Nine murderers Wednesday asked the state pardon board for clemency. One of these is Sam Scheff, under sentence of death for killing Patrolman Ballard of the Columbus police force. Scheff is 21, was a burglar and says that evil associations caused his downfall. The two new members of the pardon board, Percy Taylor of Sidney and Charles Gebhardt of Circleville, gat with the board for their first meeting. They succeed Phillip Rotetinger of Cincinnati and George Ewing of Lancaster. Ewing broke all records for longevity of service on the board. He was a member more than 16 years.

Miller's Term Expires Soon. The term of John I. Miller as superintendent of public works will expire with the close of this week, but there is nothing to indicate that Gov. Willis will be in any haste in appointing his successor. Miller has made good, and because of this the chief executive is not easer to displace him immediately. He gets an annual salary of $4,000. He is a Democrat and was appointed under the Harmon administration. There are a number of applicants for his place. Harry W. Meacham of Toledo, a former engineer in the department, is being urged for the place.

Cleveland Man Gets Appointment. Maj. John C. Fulton of Cleveland commanding officer of the Ninth infantry, colored, of the Ohio National Guard, who held a position in the adfutant general's department during the Herrick and Harris administrations has again been appointed to a place in the department. Adj. Gen. Hough has just announced his appointment. He has been assigned to duty in the quartermaster's department. Fulten is a Spanish war veteran. He commanded the Cleveland company of the Ninth infantry in that war.

Roumania and Bulgaria Ready to Fight Austria, According to Dispatch.

Paris, June 3.-Bulgaria and Roumania have arrived at a complete understanding, according to a Bucharest dispatch to the Petit Parisien, Roumania having agreed to ceds territory in Dobrudja. The two countries will enter the war simultaneously, the dispatch says, Roumania against Austria and Bulgaria against Turkey. The army staffs of the two powers are said to be busy co-ordinating military plans. Rumors are rife that Roumania is mobilizing an army of 1,000,000 men, which is said to be in splendid condition for active service.

Negotiations between Roumania and Russia over the lines of the Pruth and of Banat are said to be virtually cemplete. If Russia accepts Roumania's proposals the latter country is declared to be ready to begin hostilities without delay. Roumania aspires to the possession of Transylvania and the Austrian government is reported to have decided against granting her demands. Turkey already has made preparations at Adrianople and elsewhere south of the Bulgarian border for possible invasion Bitter Relations Are Changed. Dobrudja, which Roumania is reported to have agreed to cede, is a part of Roumania bounded on the east by the Black sea and on the north and west by the Danube river. As a consequence of the second Balkan war between Bulgaria and Serbia and Greece, Roumania took from Bulgaria a large slice of territory and added it to Dob-rudja province on the south. Much bitter feeling existed in Bulgaria for some time against Roumania on this account, but more recently a change in the relations between these two Balkan states was observed. Last December the Bulgarian minister at Petrograd was quoted as saying Roumania had arranged to restore to Bulgaria that portion of Dobrudia which had been annexed by the former country after the second Balkan war. The German press is showing some indications of anxiety over this situation, and the Frankfort Zeitung has called for concessions to prevent Roumanian intervention. Vienna has been informed that Germany, pouring out blood and treasure in the struggle, must be listened to, and that Austria-Hungary must be prepared to make certain sacrifices to meet the Roumanian demand.

Berlin Reports Victories. London, June 3.-The Austro-German grio on Przemysl is tightening. The official announcement from the Berlin war office states that further entrenchments to the north of the city have been captured, although the Russian military authorities assert that attacks on these outlying fortifications have been repulsed. THE long, low streamline body is unmarred by angles or projections. From the rounded edge of the radia-tor to the full curve back, there is not a break in the lines. The hood slopes gently upwards and blends into the beautiful curved cowl. The doors are flush, with hinges concealed and handles inside. The fenders are long and sweeping in their curves, with gracefully rounded surfaces. The running boards are clean and free from obstructions, the storage battery concealed, the tire-carriers placed at the rear. The windshield is built-in, and conforms to the cowl-a part of the car itself, not an apparent afterthought.

The car is superbly finished in rich, deep Brewster green, delicately striped with pure ivory white, and set off in pleasing contrast by black enameled radiator, fenders and running board shield.

OHIOAN DRAWS ANOTHER MAN'S PENSION WHEN LETTERS BECOME CONFUSED.

Wooster, O., June 3.-Bert C. Miller, farmer of Shreve, a Spanish-American war veteran, didn't know several years ago that there was any red tape about getting a pension, so, after dropping a letter to the pension department at Washington, he wasn't surprised, a week later, to receive a letter informing him the application had been granted. Neither was he surprised when the vouchers came along.

A few days ago, however, a pension department man visited Shreve to make an investigation. Mrs. Bert C Miller of Ashland, whose husband died recently, made inquiry of the pension department regarding a pension for herself, explaining her husband had not been allowed a pension when he applied. Records showed the pension had been allowed to the Ashland man. The investigation showed the letters had been confused and Miller of Shreve had been drawing the Ashlander's pension to the extent of $1,400.

Saving Space in the Small Household

There is much to be said in favor of the small, compact, convenient household, whether it be called an apartment or a flat, as there is certainly much to be admired and commended in the ingenuity with which the space within its walls is now utilized. Thirty-five miles was given not long since as the distance traveled daily by a certain housewife in the performance of may not have been an exceptional case. The mother of a large family and the housekeeper of a large dwelling, doing her own work upstairs and downstairs, answering all calls, responding to all demands of the establishment, might easily travel that distance in the course of her sixteen or eighteen hours of daily toil. Only those who have followed her movements, and with a full measure of sympathy, realize how much work the average housewife of the type noted can do, or the ground she must get over from early morning until late at night in order to do it. Modern appliances and utensils have lessened her labors in a measure, it is true; but modern appliances and utensils have not done as much for the mother of a large family in the large dwelling as for the housewife in the flat or apartment. Where there is a cellar, a first floor, a second and perhaps a third floor, it is a difficult matter to economize steps. There is compensation in the big house; if this were not so, fewer would cling to it. But there is unquestionably comfort in the modernly fitted flat or apartment for those who have or have not experienced the inconveniences as well as the freedom of the detached dwell-

Each will doubtless continue to have its partisans. Each may continue to have tenants who under no conditions or for any consideration would change places with others. So for the time being, it may be said without prejudice that there is, as we intimated in the beginning, much to be said in favor of the small, compact, convenient household. One likes to think, at least, of living among contrivances that will reduce a housewife's dally travel and daily toll to the minimum.

Quick Mender

Gum tissue will quickly mend threecornered rents in trousers, and thin places in the elbows of little frocks may be strengthened with it. Every mother should know the value of this tissue, which makes the neatest sort of mend without any darning and with little or no work, says the Country Gentleman.

In other ways it is also invaluable to the home dressmaker; for instance, when facing a jacket put a strip between cloth and facing, then press with a hot iron. It gives a tailored finish to a garment.

WHAT IS TRUE LOVE?

The One Experience in Human Life That Makes Existence Divine. Once into the life of almost every man and woman comes an experience that makes existence divine. Then human creatures live not on the sordid earth, but in heaven. They are transfigured within, and become as if new-born. All is changed also around them, the streets are gold, the stars sing, the world is crystal. This experience is called true love.

It is a kind of madness. It is like intoxication. It is a dream, a wonder, a miracle. Common to all people, it is yet the most uncommon, amazing, shattering thing known.

It is the love of one man and one woman. It is the mating instinct of Nature as translated into spirit qualitles by the deep human heart and the majestic human brain.

The first effect is to shut out all the rest of mankind. The two are walled up in a world of their own. They want no one else. Their thoughts cannot escape intense concentration upon one another. They are monomaniacs,

To the man in true love with one woman all other women have something repellant toward him.

Monogamy is not merely a custom, nor an artificial or economic arrangement, nor a state prescribed by authority of religion; it is psychological; it is a natural law of souls; it will continue forever because when true love comes to normal people it is always exclusive. We may love many times, but the great true love comes but once.

Orchardson's and Murray's Work as Viewed From Different Standpoints.

When Orchardson's picture, "Hard Hit." was exhibited at the academy the artist was strolling through the rooms one day when he saw, to his alarm, an excited little foreigner making toward him with threatening aspect and brandishing a stick as he came. "Ah, sir," he exclaimed, "if I thought that by killing you I could paint a picture like that I would crush your skull this minute."

David Murray, a Royal Academician, was once painting in Picardy when his stock of canvas became exhausted. Being desirous of securing an "impression" for use later in a more ambitious attempt, the artist did one bit on a handkerchief tacked on a stretcher. Upon his return to London this piece of work was being inspected, with others, by a wealthy old lady, who desired to purchase it. Murray thought it advisable to tell her that it had been painted on his pocket handkerchief. "On your pocket handkerchief?" exclaimed the old lady. "Then . I'm quite sure you've ruined it, Mr. Murray. The paint will never come off."

POLITENESS IN PARIS.

A Boston Woman Says It Can't be Surpassed. Boston woman was talking Paris. The question of the relative courtesy of nations came up.

"Well, it would take a pretty good illustration to persuade me that any people beat the French," she remarked. "I'll give you an example. I was walking down the Champs Elysees and wanted to find a particular street called Rue de la Cloche. Not knowing just where to turn off I asked a young Frenchman who passed me if he could direct me. He assurred me with a thousand pardons that he did not know. A few minutes later I heard hurrying feet behind me, and there was my Frenchman. 'Madame,' he said, sweeping off his hat and bowing profoundly, 'did you not ask me the way to the Rue de la Cloche? I was sorry I did not know, but I have seen my brother and asked him, and I'm sorry to inform you, madame, that he did not know either."

NEW KNOXVILLE, OHIO VILLAGE IS REAL 'PEACEFUL VAL-LEY' OF THE STATE.

Columbus, June 3.-Happy and satisfied, New Knoxville, in Auglaize county, makes strong claims to first place among the villages of the state. Probably no other community has similar assets. It is the real "Peaceful Valley" of Ohio. It has no railways. It has artesian wells, lots of them, with ever flowing abundance of pure water. It has no pauper nor has any resident of the township sought public aid in many years. Its jail has been empty for more than 10 years. It has a church, the like of which cannot be found in any other town with a similar population in the country, the cost of the edifice being $70,-000. In the past 20 years more than a score of ministers, members of the congregation, have won eminence in the pulpit and prominence in the German Reformed church,
